FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

New Ergonomic Hand Held Torch Design

MILFORD, MI (July 29, 2009) – Burners, Inc., a Michigan based manufacturing and custom fabrication company that has been manufacturing hand held torches in the USA for over 40 years has just announced the latest edition to their product line up: an ergonomically designed hand held torch that will enable the user to increase productivity by reducing user fatigue and injury.

The new “Ergo Torch” will be available as of July 2009 and though it is geared towards the roofing and paving industries it has many other possible applications such as agricultural use and shrink wrapping.

Burners Inc., a leader in the burner and equipment manufacturing industry has a reputation for providing high quality American made products and world class customer service.

They are always looking at different design principals to improve on their existing products. From simple burn combustion designs - to sophisticated safety/flame control management systems, investigating the latest available technology is a standard practice at Burners, Inc.
